The rejection of claims 1-20 in the office action of November 6, 2004 is maintenance.

Applicant argues that Monroe does not teach automatic installation of the downloaded firmware since remote trigger is required. In line 1-5 of paragraph 0089 Monroe teach functions that may be manual, triggered or fully automated that include downloading of firmware, see line 8 of paragraph 0089.

Applicant further argues that a printer is claimed and not taught. Monroe teaches a fax device that produces hardcopy (see figure 3) i.e. printing.

Applicant also asks that the well-known limitations of the rejection under 35 USC 103 be shown in references. Examiner has furnished references that show web communication for low cost, determining the necessity of installing firmware and notifying a system user as discussed in the November 6, 2004 office action. See respectively lines 11-17 column 2 of Ram et al, lines 37-41 of column 4 of Yang and lines 48-51 of column 2 of Yang.

Applicant's arguments filed January 9, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
